Ready to jump into your journalism and strategic communication career?

The school offers several opportunities for students to get engaged and involved

Professional News Opportunities

KOMU-TV 8
The area's NBC affiliate, KOMU is the only university-owned commercial major network affiliate in the U.S. First-year students have opportunities as production assistants (PAs), desk assistants (DAs), live operators and floor directors.

- Sign-up to be on the email list at https://tinyurl.com/2n2mmys7

Missouri Business Alert
A digital newsroom that publishes the top business news from across the state. Opportunities include reporting and marketing. Students must go through an interview process with faculty

- Reporting contact: Michael Stacy, stacyjm@missouri.edu
- Marketing contact: Lorah Lackland, lacklandl@missouri.edu

Photojournalism at Columbia Missourian

- Contact: Brian Kratzer, kratzerb@missouri.edu

Get in the Game Bootcamp
Students interested in sports journalism can learn about all areas of sports storytelling through the lens of high school football.

- Sign-up: bit.ly/D3M2w69u

Sports Journalism
Ready to start your career in sports journalism? Gain valuable sports journalism experience as you help provide coverage of more than 40 local and regional high school football games each week at the Columbia Missourian and KOMU-TV 8.

- Columbia Missourian Sports Desk: Students can volunteer to produce and format sports content for the print edition.
  - Contact: Pete Bland, PBland@missouri.edu or Adam Feiner, ajfhp3@missouri.edu
- Friday Night Fever (FNF): Weekly multi-media program covering the local high school football season for the school's NBC affiliate KOMU-TV 8. Opportunities include filming, tweeting and snapchatting.
- Friday Night Sights: Practice your visual journalism skills for the Columbia Missourian by getting on the photo volunteer list.
  - Contact: Brian Kratzer, kratzerb@missouri.edu, for more information or to sign up

Vox Magazine
Vox blends Columbia's urban mentality and hometown familiarity into a smart, small-city tabloid. Opportunities include writing, art assistant, or editorial assistant. Applications, along with examples of work, are accepted via email at the start of each school semester.
